

LA SIRENA JUL 16

Legends, Songs and Stories dedicated to "La Tlancheana," Mexican Siren

From our inland towns, the Aztecan Queen, "La Tlancheana" or "Mama Lancheana," Goddess Woman, resident of the lakes, islets, boulders, water springs and lagoons. Her skin is gray or black, fish-woman, serpent-woman. The Lancheana is our Siren Mother & keeper of our fresh waters. -Sirena de Tula, Jorge Arzate S.

SOR JUANA AUG 20

Interdisciplinary celebration of women in politics, arts and science.

The 17th-century colonial Mexican poet, playwright and intellectual, Sor (Sister) Juana Inés de la Cruz is renowned for her writings. She also remains famous for challenging the social and cultural mores that kept women physically and mentally confined. A true icon of Mexican culture.

BÉSAME MUCHO JUN 25

History of the Mexican Bolero.
A homage to the songs, its composers,
musicians and singers.

"Music has been my thing since before I could even talk.
We are all born with something that fulfills us,
I was born with the gift of music."
-Consuelo Velázquez. Composer / Musician
