

The War Field

In the middle of a field
I stand in the sun
and I wonder why
this place is so quiet.
And I think
what lies under settled water is darker than what lies under running water.