SAN ANTONIO, TEJAS

“I feel like God gave me a big heart because so many people have come and said, ‘Oh, I wish you were my mother.’ ... Maybe they’re kidding. But I always tell them, ‘There’s space in my heart for you, so come in.’” — Isabel (Doña Chavelita) Casillas Sánchez

Reverberations of Racial Violence

Edited by Sonia Hernández and John Morán González

Between 1910 and 1920, thousands of Mexican Americans and Mexican nationals were killed on the Texas border. Despite a 1919 investigation of the state-sanctioned violence, especially by Texas Rangers, no one was held responsible.

Reverberations gathers 14 essays on this dark chapter in history and provides for an opportunity to move beyond the Black-white paradigm of American nation-making with its rampant racial violence and civil rights activism.

The Present

On his wedding anniversary, Yusef and his daughter set out in the West Bank to buy his wife checkpoints, how easy would it be to go shopping?

Join us for a screening of the British Academy Film

Awards winning short film (25 minutes), The Present, followed by a community discussion facilitated by members of San Antonio for Justice in Palestine and Jewish Voice for Peace, San Antonio. Free and open to the public.
