The Todos Agua Festival is a vibrant music, poetry, and art celebration rooted in the reverence for water, acknowledging its vital role in sustaining life, its spiritual significance, and its profound connection to our ancestral legacy. It pays homage to the wisdom of our ancestors, who originally established their communities in the Américas, guided by the intrinsic knowledge of water, birds, and animals. Water has always been a source of life, and this festival aims to honor and celebrate its importance in our lives. Through music, art, and cultural expressions, we come together to pay homage to our roots, connect with our ancestors, and deepen our understanding of the sacred bond between water, all forms of life, and humanity. Festival organizer and performer Azul Barrientos who headlines Noche Azul at the Esperanza invites you to join her at this very special 3-day event:

Day 1 Friday

Doors open at 5 pm | Program begins @ 6pm

Motivated by the desire to honor the sacredness of water and its connection to life, especially in San Antonio, the first day of the Todos Agua Festival which coincides with International Water Day will feature a tapestry of local artists including poets Carmen Tafolla, Andrea "Vocab" Sanderson, and Eduardo Garza.

The musical lineup will include Ceiba Ili, Mazatl Cihuatl and Los Hermanos Bonifacio, who will showcase the vibrant sounds of Garifuna music. Artist Mauro De La Tierra, who created the Todos Agua artwork will showcase his work and live painting. To add to the celebration of water Greg Harman of Declaration News and Marisol Cortez will speak about the history and status of water in San Antonio, originally known as Yanaguana.

Day 2 Saturday

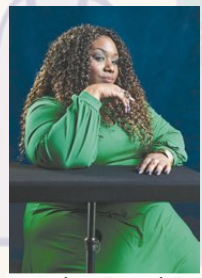

Doors open 6 pm | Concert @ 7 pm

Julian Herreros Rivera is the headliner for the Todos Agua Festival. Amidst the multitude of artists Azul has encountered, Rivera's name shines brightly. Originating from Chile, he emerges as a luminary in the realm of folk music. His music defies categorization, weaving together threads of emotion that resonate deeply with audiences. With a virtuoso command of both voice and guitar, Julian crafts compositions that transcend boundaries. It's his fearless artistic vision that truly sets him apart, capturing the hearts of listeners around the globe. Rivera is also a visual artist with Azul has a shared love for Atahualpa Yupanqui. These revelations have deepened Azul's appreciation for Julian's artistry revealing a profound connection between them—a shared love for the roots of folklore that shape their musical identities and will be shared with San Antonio audiences in a once in a lifetime event.

Day 3 Sunday

Doors open 3:00 pm | Cacao ceremony: 3:30 pm | Concert: 5 pm

The festival begins with Diana Dos Santos offering a cacao ceremony, providing an immersive experience. Then, Julian and Azul will come together to share the stage, weaving a final musical journey that celebrates water and the beauty of Latin American folk music.
