Unbreakable: Feminist Visions from the Gilberto Cárdenas and Dolores Garcia Collection

Continues until December 3, 2023

Blanton Museum of Art
Austin, Texas
www.blantonmuseum.org/rotation/unbreakable/

Unbreakable presents artwork with an emphasis on Latina and Chicana artists and their stories of survival and resilience. Selected from the landmark Gilberto Cárdenas and Dolores Garcia Collection, which the Blanton recently acquired, the works represent the act of surviving difficult or violent realities, ranging from immigration and poverty to misogyny and genocide. Artists make figures visible in society who have been overlooked or exploited over time, championing matriarchs, community members, malcriadas [bad-mannered girls], domestic workers, and the rebellious "other." The artists' works present the ways in which women and gender nonconforming people navigate, surpass, and dismiss societal boundaries, advocating the belief that a feminist future is possible.

Curated by Claudia Zapata, Associate Curator, Latino Art, Blanton Museum of Art.

Liliana Wilson will be one of the Latina & Chicana artists featured in Unbreakable.
